“Mother Angeline McCrory”

In Tyrone's fine county, a land of great bounty, I first set my eyes on Mother Angeline.

As she prayed to her savior, there was no one braver, With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.

A-live, A-live Oh. A-live, A-live Oh. With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.

She left home for France, where she jumped at the chance,

To help the poor folk and old folk, with all of their needs. She joined in the Order, Little Sisters of the Po'or.

With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.

A-live, A-live Oh. A-live, A-live Oh. With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.

Then she crossed the great ocean, with heartfelt emotion, to bring her sweet healing, to the aged and infirm.

Through the Sisters she led, her legacy spread, With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.

A-live, A-live Oh. A-live, A-live Oh. With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.

When kind Angeline died, the world stopped and cried, And the Pope in fair Rome said we honor her life.

First Beatification, then canonization, With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.

A-live, A-live Oh. A-live, A-live Oh. With compassion and kindness, A-live, A-live Oh.
